Job Vacancy: General Secretary of ICOMOS-UK

ICOMOS-UK is currently recruiting for a new General Secretary.

The current Secretary is stepping down after twenty years of service to ICOMOS-UK. ICOMOS-UK is looking for someone to fill the position starting in July 2024. This is currently a part-time un-paid executive (equivalent to a CEO) role with reasonable expenses for out of the office work. It is an ideal and practice to the UK. It could suit someone who has part-time availability or has recently retired and wishes to retain an active involvement in the heritage sector within an international dimension. Experience of working in sectors relating to the historic/built environment and/or culture and heritage would be desirable. Experience in managing the development and delivery of governance, policy and operations for a small or medium sized organisation or as part of a larger organisation would be essential. ICOMOS-UK envisages that an increase in membership which ICOMOS-UK is working towards may generate funding to make the role paid in the future.

The General Secretary reports to the President and manages a member of staff (part-time paid staff member) and volunteers who undertake work intermittently.

ICOMOS-UK is expecting to fill this post by the beginning of July 2024 and would be happy to arrange an informal chat with ICOMOS-UK's President about the role, on request.

Application process: closing date for the application is 17th May 2024.

Candidates should send a CV, no longer than 2/3 pages, setting out why they wish to apply for the post and all relevant skills, knowledge and experience that support the application. Interviews are scheduled during first week in June 2024. The successful candidate will be notified soon after the interview date.

To apply, please find the job advertisement as pdf here or click here for more online details.
